ABOUT

Our mission is to build community and improve local food security by supporting, expanding and enhancing community gardening across Niagara.
We believe growing and sharing food can transform communities and address environmental, health and social issues.
There are many ways to garden in community. We link a diverse range of different types of community gardens across Niagara, including allotment gardens, community sharing gardens, urban farms, therapeutic, educational, vocational and school gardens.
Our member are community gardeners, supportive volunteers, garden coordinators and sponsoring organizations, donors and other community allies, including community members, neighbourhood groups, nonprofit agencies, schools and childcare centres, public libraries and faith-based groups.
We all work together to support one another and share resources to empower people of all ages to better be able to grow healthy, nutritious food.

Our Work

We offer a range of resources for community gardeners, coordinators, volunteers and the general public, including:

- Encouraging mutual support by hosting monthly networking meetings among members to share community gardening information, experience, and best practices
- Creating and hosting gardening, food skills and community building workshops
- Sharing online tools and resources
- Providing financial support to new and existing community gardens and sharing information on grant opportunities
- Consulting on new and existing projects
- Helping connect gardeners and garden coordinators to broader community supports
